

Learning To Read

Components of Beginning Reading Instruction

K - 8

PRIMARY AUTHOR AND DEVELOPERS

Louisa Cook Moats, Alice R. Furry, Nancy Brownell
Sacramento County Office of Education

Comprehensive Reading
Leadership Program [AB 3482]

CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Yvonne W. Larsen
1998 State Board President

Robert L. Trigg
1998 State Board Vice President

Megan Kephart
1997-98 Student Member

Timothy C. Draper

Kathryn Dronenburg

Marion Joseph

Marion McDowell

Janet G. Nicholas

Gerti B. Thomas

Marina Tse

Honorable Delaine Eastin
Superintendent of Public Instruction
State Board Secretary and Executive Officer

Bill Lucia
Executive Director

Publishing Information

REVISED EDITION

Original publication of this material was funded by AB 3482
and revised edition funded by Goals 2000, Budget Act of 1997-98, Chapter 282, Section J, authorized by the California
State Board of Education.

© 1998 California State Board of Education

Comprehensive Reading Leadership Center
Sacramento County Office of Education
9738 Lincoln Village Drive
Sacramento, CA 95827

(916) 228-2425
FAX (916) 228-2444

Cover by David Lobenberg of Lobenberg Graphics

MODULE 1: Learning to Read

Components of a Comprehensive, Balanced Reading Program

Every Child a Reader

The Goals of the California Reading Initiative	2
The Reading Gap	2

The Benefits of an Early Start, the Costs of Early Failure

Research on the Consequences of Reading Failure	3
Advantages of Good Reading	4

What Research Says About Effective, Comprehensive Early Reading Programs

What is Reading?	5
A Simple View of Reading (Gough)	5
The Importance of Decoding	6
The Program Advisory, Teaching Reading	6
Legislation	6
Recommendations for Instruction	7

Proficient and Nonproficient Readers

Psychological Characteristics of Proficient Readers in Word Identification	7
Psychological Characteristics of “Poor” Readers in Word Identification	7
Who has Dyslexia?	8

A Balanced Reading Program: What Does It Mean?

Meaning and Code Are Not in Opposition	8
Comprehensive Reading/Language Arts Components	9
Principles for Teaching Reading Comprehension	9
Comprehension Strategies	10
Vocabulary	10
Use of Academic Language	10
Instruction Time	10
Addressing Universal Access	11

MODULE 2: Structure of the English Language

The Speech Sound System, Phoneme Awareness, and Systematic, Explicit Phonics Instruction

Introduction to Phonology and Phoneme Awareness

Prediction of Reading, K-2	13
Phonology, Reading, and Spelling	13
Necessary, but Not Sufficient	14
What is a Phoneme?	14
Phonemes Are Abstract	14
Phonemes and Phonics	14

Phonology, Phonics, and Learning to Read

Phonics	14
Alphabetic Writing	14
Vowel Sounds	15
Consonant Sounds.....	15
How Print Represents Speech	15
Summary: Phoneme Awareness and Learning to Read	16
Development of Word Recognition	16
A Decoding Test for Adults	17
The Role of Context	17
Getting Meaning Requires Fluency	17
Becoming Automatic	18
Beyond Decoding	18
High Frequency Sight Words	18
Eye Movements in Reading	18
Decoding Words Independently	19

Elements of Systematic, Explicit Phonics Instruction

What to Teach	19
Principles of Exemplary Phonics	20

MODULE 3: Prevention of Reading Failure

Pre-reading Instruction in Phoneme Awareness
Phonology, Reading, and Spelling: A Review	21
Development of Phonological Skill.....	21
Summary Recommendations	22
Reading in English for English Learners	22
Overview of Issues in Spelling Assessment and Instruction
Spelling Counts	28
Effective Spelling Instruction	28
Spelling Development and Why It Is Important
Stages of Spelling Development.....	29
Temporary or Inventive Spellings	30
Features of Exemplary Spelling Instruction
Summary: Recommendations for Exemplary Spelling Instruction	32

MODULE 4: Diagnosis of Student Progress and Selection of Appropriate Instructional Materials

Assessment and Evaluation of Reading Achievement
Overview of Assessment Issues	35
Key Questions for Assessments to Drive Instruction	35
Categories of Assessment Tools.....	36
Normed, Criterion Observational Tools — General Definitions	36
Criteria for Test Selection	37
Examples of Assessment Tools for Kindergarten through Grade 6	37
Planning for Instruction: High Quality Instructional Materials
Planning for Instruction	41
Adoption of K-8 Instructional Materials	41
Selection of Instructional Materials	41
State and Local Funds for Instructional Materials	43
Special Attention to Instructional Materials K-3 for Teaching Beginning Reading	43

High Frequency, Predictable and Decodable Text

High Frequency Text	44
Predictable Text	44
Decodable Text	44
Incentives for Independent Reading of High Quality Text	45
Encouraging Independent Reading.....	45
Instructional Materials for English Language Learners	46
Professional Development	46
Guiding Family and Community Members	47
 REFERENCES	48
 APPENDICES	55
 GLOSSARY	156
 ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	159

FIGURES

1.1	Percentage of Youngsters in the School Who Can Read Grade Level Material	2
1.2	Mean Words Per Child Per Reading Session by Ability Groups and Month	3
1.3	Better Readers Get to Read a Lot More Words	4
1.4	Nagy & Anderson (1984)	4
1.5	The “Matthew Effect” (Stanovich 1986)	4
1.6	Correlations Between Decoding and Comprehension in the Connecticut Longitudinal Study.....	6
1.7	Dyslexia: An Arbitrary Point on a Continuum	8
1.8	Traditional Scaling of Reading Programs	9
1.9	Illustration — Apportioning Instructional Time	11
2.1	Can You Tell Which Language is Represented by Each of These Writing Systems?	14
2.2	Vowels Spellings by Mouth Position	15
2.3	American English Consonants (Phonic Symbols)	15
2.4	Development of Word Recognition (Ehri, Perfetti)	16
2.5	Nonsense Passages.....	17
2.6	One Child’s Reading Errors: Can You Predict from Context?	17
2.7	High Frequency Words with Odd Spellings	18
2.8	Linguistic Units for Teaching Phonics and Word Analysis	19
2.9	Progression of Word Recognition	19
2.10	Summary of Best Practices in Phonics, Decoding and Word Attack (K-Grade 3)	20
2.11	Summary of Best Practices in Advanced Decoding and Word Attack Skills (Grades 4-8)	20
3.1	Examples of Phoneme Awareness Tasks	22
3.2	Development of Phonological Skills by Age	22
3.3	The California Reading Initiative for English Learners.....	23
3.4	Development of Phonological Skill	28
3.5	Student Spelling Samples	30
3.6	Word Study Curriculum	31
3.7	Compounds	31

3.8	Identifying the Sound and Number of Syllables of Past Tense Words	31
3.9	Active Learning of Spelling Patterns	32
3.10	High Frequency Words for Memory	32
3.11	Spelling Scope and Sequence Chart	33
4.1	Assessments Driving Instruction	36
4.2	Example of Uses of Kindergarten Through Grade Three Assessments	36
4.3	Example of Uses of Assessments in Grades Four Through Eight	37
4.4	Criteria for Test Selection	37
4.5	Suggestions for Measures Available to Teachers (K-3)	39
4.6	Suggestions for Measures Available to Teachers (4-8)	40
4.7	Elements of Effective Reading Instruction, AB 3482 and AB 1086, K-8	42
4.8	Example of High Frequency Text	44
4.9	Example of Predictable Text for Second Month of First Grade	44
4.10	Example of Decodable Text for Second Month of First Grade	45
4.11	Why Reading A Lot is Important	45
4.12	Motivators to Read Independently	45